Visit us online at www.1stWorldLibrary.ORG - - The evening service was being celebrated on the eve of Palm Sunday in the Old Petrovsky Convent. When they began distributing the palm it was close upon ten o'clock, the candles were burning dimly, the wicks wanted snuffing; it was all in a sort of mist. In the twilight of the church the crowd seemed heaving like the sea, and to Bishop Pyotr, who had been unwell for the last three days, it seemed that all the faces - old and young, men and women - were alike, that everyone who came up for the palm had the same expression in his eyes. In the mist he could not see the doors; the crowd kept moving and looked as though there were no end to it. The female choir was singing, a nun was reading the prayers for the day. How stifling, how hot it was! How long the service went on! Bishop Pyotr was...

Reviews

It is one of the most popular publications. It really is written in easy words and not difficult to understand. You are going to like how the author writes this book.

-- Prof. Evans Balistreri DDS

Completely essential go through book. This is for all who state there had not been a worthy of reading through. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.
